

TROPHY KID$

COMEDY FEATURE
WRITTEN BY PAT ROCHE

LOGLINE

When a group of parents start wagering on their kid's little league games, word of the gambling syndicate spreads throughout the suburbs, stoking town rivalries that pit parents against kids, coaches against referees, and even the friendly Panjabi-owned trophy store against the local Irish mafia.

SYNOPSIS

Erica McGrady is a single mom and school teacher, living the dream in the suburbs of Boston.

Her days are spent schlepping kids to practice, fundraising for the hockey league, and kvetching about the kitchen renovation project that never ends.

When her ex-husband, Teddy, is banned from their son's hockey games for fighting the mascot, Erica must join the ranks of glass-pounding hockey parents, whose mania, she learns, is fueled by clandestine wagers brokered by her contractor, Liam.

With their renovation money lost on a bad bet, and the school's budget slashed by her town rival, Erica has an idea: Fund the hockey league through a sports betting app... "It's like DraftKings but for kids!"

To see this plan through, Erica recruits Sanji Dupdal, a precocious student with eyes on attending business school. She convinces Sanji that his class project will benefit the hockey team as well as his family's Sports Apparel shop. But when the "All-In" app goes viral, Erica quickly finds herself at the helm of a massively lucrative gambling syndicate that stokes long-simmering town rivalries, pits parents against kids, and leads to some hilarious fixing of games.

With the League Commissioner closing in and Liam in debt to an Irish Mobster, Erica must maneuver to save the hockey league, exonerate the sports-crazed town and redeem herself as a mother and teacher.

SETTING

Set in the famously sports-crazed suburbs of Boston Massachusetts, the towns of Weymouth and Hingham serve as an analogue for all small town American sports, with their rivalries, disparity in wealth, and tireless parents who'll stop at nothing to ensure their kids succeed and give them one more crack at proving their worth.

SECOND CHANCES

Children's sports mania is at an all time high. Parents in every corner of the country go bonkers for their kids games, and in many cases, take it too far. The excesses of the sporting world have real consequences for kids growing up today - their parents desire to win and secure social status, and earn scholarships has come to outweigh the interests of the children. Trophy Kids explores this and the booming on-line gambling world with outrageous and crass parody.

COMPS

THE SPORTS-THEMED COMEDY FEATURE HAS BROAD AND MASSIVE APPEAL TO FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC AUDIENCES. COMPARABLE FILMS WITH BUDGETS UNDER $10 MILLION HAVE SEEN ENORMOUS RETURNS.

A close-up, low-angle shot of a hockey player's legs and feet on an ice rink. The player is wearing white pants with blue and red stripes at the bottom, black hockey skates, and blue gloves. A black hockey stick is held in the right hand, and a black hockey puck is on the ice in front of it. The background shows the arena's lights and structure, blurred.
